Lightning kills man

28/10/2005 11:26 - (SA)

Johannesburg - Lightning killed a 57-year-old man in Jan Kempdorp in the Northern Cape on Thursday, police said.

According to a witness, he and the man were walking in a field when he was struck by lightning, police spokesperson Captain Tshepo Mofokeng said on Friday.

"He then approached the victim, who had fallen to the ground, to help but realised he was already dead," Mofokeng said.

Paramedics and the police summoned to the scene confirmed the man was dead.
