Two people died in separate villages in Lusikisiki after being struck by lightning, Eastern Cape police said.

A 31-year-old woman was killed while sitting in a home in Mponza at shortly after 2pm on Sunday, Captain Mduduzi Godlawana said.

Other people who were in the house with her were not affected by the lightning strike.

In Mgojweli also in the Lusikisiki area, a 50-year-old man died after being struck by lightning around 8pm on Sunday.

The man was in his home with several other people when he was struck.
